SPRI honors volunteers

Each year, SPRI honors those volunteers who have gone above-and-beyond in devoting their time and talents to the association. Nominations for these honorees are solicited from the membership, and the Member Services Chair and the President of SPRI make the selections.

The 2022 recipients were the staff at Metal-Era, Inc. including Paul Linton, Karan Patel and Erin Inhoff. Metal-Era was instrumental in the implementation of an updated wind design calculator to the SPRI website, spri.org. The calculator is a significant tool used by consultants, designers and architects when designing a roof.
